BIKER BILLY

"Eat hot, ride safe, and enjoy cooking with fire," Biker Billy hollers every week on literally the hottest show on cable TV, Biker Billy Cooks with Fire. Dressed in all black and dark sunglasses, an armed with his beloved mother's cast-iron skillet and all manner of jalapenos and habaneros, burly Biker Billy Hufnagle has captured the hearts and stomachs of millions of public-access viewers nationwide.

"Bikers approach things with more gusto and excitement than regular people," says Billy. This is made apparent by the zealous way in which the Bronx native works his culinary magic—flinging garbage over his shoulder, pulverizing peppers, and repeatedly bellowing his favorite expletive, "Awwright!" Between concocting Killer Curry and Ballistic Bananas, he takes time out to preach the joys of safe biking and the thrill of a hog on the open highway. A renegade chef who claims no frying-pan heroes, Biker Billy has a philosophy all kitchen klutzes can embrace: "There's no such thing as a bad cook," he says. "Worst thing that happens is you've made something for the compost heap."

Biker Billy is the author of three cookbooks: Biker Billy Cooks with Fire, Biker Billy Freeway-A-Fire, and Biker Billy's Hog Wild on a Harley. He is also a columnist and Gastronomic Editor for Cruising Rider magazine and freelance writer for other publications. A frequent guest on National TV shows Billy is a freewheeling fiery food lover, gardener, and Harley rider.

Biker Billy can be seen at the Central Washington Home & Garden Show on Saturday at 1:00pm and 5:00pm, and Sunday 11:00am and 3:30pm.

The Carey Brothers

James Carey and Morris Carey, known as the Carey Bros., are nationally-recognized experts on home building and renovation. They share their 55+ years of experience as award-winning, licensed contractors with millions of people nationwide through a weekly radio program and syndicated newspaper column both titled On The House.

With wit, enthusiasm and clarity, the Carey Bros.' Associated Press syndicated newspaper column and four-hour radio broadcast offer people money-saving tips on building, remodeling and repairing homes.

These third-generation contractors hold 20-year broadcast careers in radio and television. They deliver user-friendly, hands-on advice in their radio program and daily radio tip which are carried coast-to-coast weekly via satellite to a rapidly growing network of more than 300 stations. The program is also broadcasted via live remote from home and building expos nationwide.

The Careys also host a highly-trafficked and information-packed website, onthehouse.com, which acts as a convergence of all of their home improvement advice, tips and information.

The Carey Bros. have authored four "how-to" books, Cost-Effective Home Upgrades published by Ortho Books (1992); Home Remodeling For Dummies published by IDG Books Worldwide (1998); Home Maintenance For Dummies also published by IDG Books Worldwide (2000), and Home Improvement-All-In-One For Dummies published by Wiley Publishing, Inc.
